

That Which Binds Us

As a community in the Lutheran tradition, we believe in:

- the message of God's radical gifts of love, forgiveness and salvation are offered to every human being ("grace alone"), not based on our own good works
- the equality of all believers
- the recognition that each of us is both 'saint and sinner', good and bad, part of God's plan and
- the importance of rootedness in historical traditions combined with renewal in the church

Redeemer's faith stories are as diverse as our members. We're united by a conviction that the story and message of Jesus Christ is important, meaningful, and worth sharing. We're called to live out our faith in many ways, including through worship, social action, prayer, music, silence, and study.

As a community of faith we seek to:

- provide a place of spiritual sanctuary and solace;
- nourish and support faith;
- care and provide for those in need, the oppressed and the despised;
- nurture in our community life the values of inclusivity, forgiveness, and care of the neighbour.
